Governor Holcomb's State Reopening Information

Overview

Hamilton County Emergency Management has been actively working to support all county response operations to COVID-19 and have been looking toward reopening planning over the last two weeks. On Friday, May 1st, 2020, Governor Holcomb announce the “Back on Track” program, which is a five-phase incremental reopening program for the State of Indiana to resume operating in a “new normal”. Part of this program is the provision of guidance for all business sectors in how to safely reopen each sector of your community to the public once again, with this document providing a brief overview of the “Back on Track” program, as well as resources for further information on industry specific guidance. This document is designed to provide a summary of Governor Holcomb’s reopening plan and provide sources of information for all sectors of the community to utilize during reopening planning.

Key Principles for Transition to “New Normal”

The key principles provide minimum standards for a county to progress on to the next stage of reopening. These are shown in the graphic below.

Governor Holcomb stated that failure to maintain these principles may result in a temporary halt being placed on a county to move forward into the next phase until that county has regained the ability to meet the above criteria.

More information on these principles and how these should be maintained can be found in the following links:

Five-Phase Reopening of Indiana

Governor Holcomb has identified five phases which incrementally reduce restrictions placed on sectors within communities, allowing for a gradual transition towards the “new normal” way of life. Each phase has been designed to incorporate guidance from the Center for Disease Control (CDC), the White House/Trump Administration, and World Health Organization. The chart below represents these

Industry Specific Guidance

Governor Holcomb has also provided information for the safe reopening of numerous sectors within the community, including but not limited to retail, food service, gyms/fitness centers, office-based employment, and personal services. These resources have been developed with input from leaders within all sectors, as well as with consideration given to CDC, WHO, White House guidelines. Below are links to industry specific, and general guidance for reopening. Please note that not all industries have guidance at this time, due to the stage that they are reopening in. An example is special event planning, which is not scheduled to resume until July 4th. The links below should be updated with additional information for these sectors as the State of Indiana collectively moves through these phases.
